Berwick Health and Wellness Fund supports Camp Victory

MILLVILLE, PA – The Berwick Health and Wellness Fund of the Community Giving Foundation has supported Camp Victory’s programs and services through a $20,000 grant.

Camp Victory is a beautiful 130-acre facility in Millville, PA, built specifically for kids with special needs and serious health conditions. Camp Victory partners with independent partner camps that host week-long and weekend camps by conditions such as cancer, heart disease, and autism from March to November.

“We are very grateful for the ongoing support of Community Giving Foundation, including the Berwick Health and Wellness Fund’s contribution that funds camper days for residents in the designated service area,” explained Jamie Huntley, executive director of Camp Victory.

One camper said, “I was nervous to go to Arthritis Camp, but once I got there it felt like home! Camp JRA made me feel comfortable, normal, and like other people. I met so many great people, just like me!” And the camper's parent said that their “confidence and self-awareness grew tenfold (pre-to-post camp). It was such a blessing to know how well she was cared for both medically and emotionally, during her time away.”

Located in northern Columbia County and nestled in the heart of the Greenwood Valley, Camp Victory provides a unique and empowering camping experience for children, teens, adults and their families who are coping with similar triumphs and challenges.
